The Book

Coauthored by Jason Pankau, Michael Stallard, and Carolyn Dewing-Hommes, Fired Up or Burned Out shares the five key elements necessary to transform even a lethargic, disconnected organization or group into an impassioned, innovative, and thriving workplace or community.

Do You Thrive or Just Survive?

How many of us are truly thriving in the organizational environments we find ourselves in? Consider your work, your community of faith, or other organizations or groups of which you are a part. Which term more fully describes you? Which term more fully describes those around you? Fired Up or Burned Out will help you to discover how to move from being burned out to truly fired up!

The Seminar

This seminar will introduce and help you process the five key elements to creating a culture of connection in your organization.

In this four hour seminar, you will explore how to cultivate a connection culture through developing a corporate commitment to:

Three Core Elements:

- Inspiring Identity
- Human Value
- Knowledge Flow

Two Enabling Elements:

- Committed Members
- Servant Leaders

Imagine being able to craft an environment where you and your community can experience new levels of trust, creativity, cooperation and productivity.

The Experience

This seminar will give you the guidance and tools necessary to create a culture in which reproductive disciple-making can flourish and become normative. Without the five Elements of a Connection Culture in place and embraced, you will be fighting against the grain of consumer Christianity and be hindered from creating fully devoted disciples of Christ.

The Connection Culture leads your community to understand how to become more united, caring, open, discerning, more committed to virtuous character and focused on modeling and mentoring others in servant leadership.

Additional Services:

- Connection Culture Assessment: Our team will interview key leaders, consolidate their feedback, present our findings and make recommendations.
- Sermons or Speeches: We offer a power-packed one hour speech or 30 minute sermon which presents key concepts and will motivate your people to grow.
- Consulting and Life Coaching: We will help you personally process how to implement these elements into your setting.
